Epigenetics and the Nrf2 gene

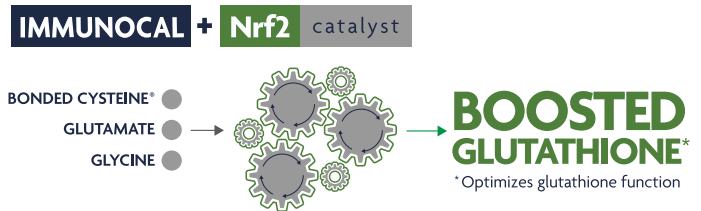

In recent years, science's ability to decode human DNA resulted in the new field of "epigenetics", the study of how we can switch certain genes on and off. The Nrf2 gene is a powerful epigenetic switch that makes all our antioxidants work better. Crucially, the sulforaphane in Immunocal Booster is one of the most powerful of the substances capable of switching on the Nrf2 gene.

Booster & Immunocal work together

Immunocal provides the building blocks for the production of glutathione, your body's master antioxidant. Our Booster is the perfect complement to Immunocal. The Booster does not reduce the amount of Immunocal you need for glutathione production, it optimizes the performance of the glutathione that Immunocal helps your body produce.

IMMUNOCAL + IMMUNOCAL BOOSTER

"The recent development of epigenetic science will allow us to better control certain genes. Nrf2 gene activation is key to supporting glutathione and detoxification function."
